Investigations have disclosed that many of the alleged accidents were reported to the Chief Clerk or other Administrative officer of the Agency housed in the building, but were not reported to the Guard Office or to the Building Superintendent's Office.

"The Public Building Service is responsible, in most cases, for consideration of these claims. We would appreciate your cooperation, therefore, in directing your representatives, both in the Metropolitan Area of Washington to report all accidents involving property damage and personal injury occurring within buildings operated and maintained by the Public Buildings Service to the Building Superintendent's Office or to the Guard Office. Such reports should be made as promptly as possible so that a full investigation may be made while the facts are still fresh in the minds of the witnesses and the evidence is still at hand."

- (2) All accidents involving property damage or personal injuries occurring within buildings used by CIA in Washington will be immediately reported in writing to the Chief, Administrative Services, for forwarding to the Public Buildings Service.
